

Did you see aspects on “Army Wives”?

ASPECTS was included as a “hero prop” in an episode of “Army Wives,” a nationally-syndicated television drama on the Lifetime Network.

ASPECTS editor Karen Carlson worked with the show’s producers to select just the right cover. The show considered several issues before selecting the Vol. 30, No. 3 issue from 2007, which features a portrait of newly graduated alumni Dwayne Buchanan and Antoine LeFlore.

The graduates are referred to in the “Army Wives” episode, “About Face,” in which the character, Dr. Roland Burton, holds up the magazine as he laments that his fellow classmate “Craig Weston” was on the cover of his alumni magazine, receiving an award for a breakthrough in schizophrenia. (Burton, a psychiatrist, gave up private practice for his wife, a lieutenant colonel.) He again refers to the magazine later in the episode, frustrated that his classmate had been appointed to Johns Hopkins. Even our fictitious alumni are doing great things!
