The Impact of Compassion Fatigue, Burnout, and Bullying

Rae Simpson, PhD, MSN, RN

Dr. Simpson is the Health Services Quality Director for the Washington State Department of Corrections. She is responsible for the implementation of the coordinated quality improvement program for eleven prisons across the state. Over her 30-year nursing career, she has held numerous leadership positions. Her expertise in quality improvement, behavioral health, and nursing leadership has provided her with the opportunity to travel around the country serving as a consultant for several organizations assisting them in achieving certification with accrediting bodies such as the Joint Commission. She has a MS in Nursing and a PhD in Leadership from St. Martin's University.

Those participating in this activity will be able to:

- Discuss the impact of bullying on correctional nurses.
- Define the relationship among burnout, compassion fatigue, and bullying.
- Utilize a model to assess the levels of burnout, compassion fatigue, and bullying in an individual, department or agency.
